

NEW TARIFF CRISIS FOR THE FARMER

The United States Markets by the New Arrangement Are Free to Canadian Farm Products.

A FEW MANUFACTURED ARTICLES ON FREE LISTS

The Agreement is Embodied in Letters Which Have Passed Between Hon. Mr. Fielding and Mr. Knox.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—When the House met at eight o'clock this evening Mr. Fielding moved the adjournment of the debate, which will be resumed at a later date.

Mr. Fielding did not conclude his speech and the reading of the schedules till nearly six o'clock.

Mr. R. E. Borden spoke briefly, regarding the treaty on the score of its indefiniteness, both in respect to procedure and probable results.

The debate was not continued after recess and the real criticism of the Canadian tariff was made by Mr. Fielding.

The changes made by the arrangement are sweeping and will have a very considerable effect on the Canadian market.

Many requests made by the farmers delegation on Tuesday 14th are granted.

The States market being made free to Canadian farm products, the duties on many articles being made free to Canadian farm products.

The farmers' request for free agricultural implements is not granted.

But a number of implements which now pay 15 to 20 per cent are reduced to 15 per cent, while others are reduced from 25 to 20 per cent.

The fifteen per cent list includes the most common implements such as plows, tools, and harrows.

The remaining large implements being reduced to 20 per cent.

It is necessary that we shall point out as the matter which we are not in a position to make any agreement. Restrictions at present existing in Canada, and of a provincial character. They have been adopted by several of the provinces with a view to provincial interests. We have the right to the desire to interfere with the free exercise of their constitutional powers in the administration of public lands. The provisions proposed to make respecting conditions upon which the export of pulpwood and paper may be imported into the United States free of duty must necessarily be for the protection of the provinces. The provincial Governments will decide to any way modify their regulations with a view of securing the free admission of pulp and paper from their province.

60 SCHOOL TRUSTEES ARE AT WETASKIWIN

Gathering From All Over the Province to Much Larger Than at the Convention of Last Year—Interesting Discussions Take Place.

By Bulletin Staff Correspondent.

Wetaskiwin, Jan. 25.—The fifth annual convention of the Association of School Trustees for the Province of Alberta opened this morning at Wetaskiwin. President H. A. Macdonald, of Innisfail, gave an interesting address outlining the objects of the association and the result of its recommendations to the department especially in school law. The proper education of the children is of the utmost importance and should prepare them for after life in business or on the farm. Culture is important but a technical education is better than one of culture, for it includes culture as well. The vocational one is a higher one.

If the indifferent farmers of our province could be made enthusiastic and successful the agricultural products could be doubled in one year.

Indifferent Parents. Indifferent parents are the result of the educational system of the past, which has not produced men and women of the right type. The proportional amount expended on education has not kept pace with the increasing revenue of our province.

He referred to the establishment of demonstration farms and suggested the advisability of establishing a demonstration school and practical illustration of a consolidated school. We cannot get the best education till we have the consolidated school.

Visit Kindergarten. Upon invitation of J. Fowler, chairman of the Wetaskiwin school board, the delegates visited the Kindergarten room.

President Macdonald expressed the sentiments of the delegates and thanked the children. He mentioned the need for such education in a rural school, but it was only possible in a consolidated school.

A. M. Scott, Superintendent of schools, Calgary, in reading the annual report of the secretary-treasurer, stated that it would be impossible for him to accept that office again.

A discussion followed on the most important matters mentioned in the report. More than one speaker referred to the loss the association would sustain in losing Mr. Scott as secretary-treasurer.

W. J. Trevellick spoke of the importance of the trustees work in helping to make the children of the province womanhood. The department and the association should co-operate.

S. J. Layton, of Taber, suggested that each district should be compelled to pay the annual dues.

To Overcome Lack of Interest. C. O. Reid, of Didsbury, stated that lack of interest in trustees association may often be due to neglect on the part of the secretary of the school district.

J. H. Hawdon, of Cardston, said he read the report of the trustees convention at the annual school meeting and it had a good effect.

J. S. Holman, of Stirling, favored for more enthusiasm in the association.

The fee is insignificant in comparison to the effect of a delegate. Force will not have as good an effect as a delegate will attendance and support.

The secretary stated that the attendance from rural districts in 1909 was 147, but in 1910 only 84.

M. J. Parker of Three Hills, urged each delegate to influence the neighboring districts to send delegates.

J. H. Fowler said convention gave trustees a wider outlook and helped them to realize their solemn trust in regard to the education of the child.

He said lack of attendance might be due to lack of success of the past meetings. Recommendations and suggestions were made to the department and the department may have good reasons for not acting on them, but the association would like to know the reasons.

A committee was appointed to consider the report.

Difficulties of Rural Districts. J. L. Jamieson, of Medicine Hat, spoke of the difficulties of rural districts.

President Macdonald told of how he gave his report at a district meeting for which the teacher also had the pupils prepare a short program.

He referred to the influence of the press and appreciated the increased space now given to educational matters.

Mr. Jackson, of Ponoka, said the association had two objects: 1st, mutual improvement; 2nd, recommendation of improvements to the education department.

List of Delegates. The following is the list of delegates on the first day. It includes sixty-one trustees: B. S. MacKenzie, deputy minister of Education; Maxwell Smith, editor Fruit Magazine, delegate for R. C. trustee association; Supt. A. M. Scott, P. H. D., Calgary; Supt. J. A. Kaper, Wetaskiwin; J. Hachman, Ponoka.

During the afternoon session the schools were discussed to permit the trustees to attend to J. C. Miller's paper on manual training.

Wednesday Afternoon. The trustees convention resumed at the hotel. The morning session was continued by the addition of many arriving on the morning train. Around the platform a splendid exhibit of the manual school was arranged by J. C. Miller, instructor of manual training at the Normal School at Calgary.

The first paper was on agriculture in the rural schools by G. H. Hutton, superintendent experimental farm, Lacombe, whose address was listened to with great interest. He said:

"The awakening is at hand when rural schools shall do more toward the solution of difficulties and help problems of the class that give it birth. Education should prepare for citizenship, make men intelligent and happy, and prepare them for service work. The only approach to preparation for any life work has been toward what are commonly known as the professions. These callings have been exalted, while the farmer has been known as the haysack or pumpkin roller. The kind of education has been to be little agriculture as being for those lacking in preparation. Ninety per cent of our boys and girls never go further than the public school, so their training did not fit them for their life work. Those who went to the farm went bound and gagged by ignorance, lacking power and lacking insight into the growth of plants or animals they were ineffective, and so deserved to be classified lower than the average professional man of whom culture and a trained man had given power."

The introduction of the study of agriculture to the rural schools would be the best method of giving the child's equipment for the battle of life in training the mind and the hand to the body.

How This Can Be Done. The inspectors should be in sympathy with and further the movement. As an example of what one inspector is doing, Mr. Hutton referred to the excellent work of J. H. Smith, M.A., rural school inspector of West Waverley and Chatham, Ontario. A corn fair was held where prizes were given for garden products exhibited by the pupils. President Murray, of Saskatchewan, was also quoted as favoring the instruction of the school course with agriculture for the boys, and courses in cooking and sewing for the girls.

The consolidated school solves the problem, but in the single school the elementary course can be supplemented by a school garden.

Mr. Hutton considered that the teachers should be trained for the proper teaching of agriculture in the public schools.

The text books should be prepared to emphasize the importance of agriculture, socially and financially, and as a profession. That there is nothing in agriculture compatible with refinement—culture. Arithmetic should be based on solution of agricultural problems. Questions on profit and loss are just as important for the farmer as the merchant.

The speaker referred to means being employed to create and hold interest in agriculture by the plan of the home garden and the school garden.

Having trained and sympathetic inspectors and teachers, with text books having a vocational bias much would be accomplished in promoting the back to the farm movement. Because having a knowledge of their work, the workers would possess an assurance of success and a dignity which would mean character, happiness and effectiveness on the part of men and women engaged in Agriculture.

Drive home to the minds of the future farmers of our land that through knowing of the forces of nature with which they have to deal they too may be conscious of a power and develop so be helpful to their fellows. Such a man will not look longingly or enviously upon the social or moral force of his professional power nor upon his earning power for he will know that on a quarter section he can develop himself socially and morally by contact with nature and nature's laws, and at the same time earn a competence above the average earned by the professional man.

If agriculture is introduced into the school, it will do great good to all classes and will have a far reaching effect. The old story is still true as when first written for "a little child he had them."

Mr. Maxwell Smith, of Vancouver, editor of "Fruit Magazine" then gave an excellent address which will be published later.

P. P. Fowler, of Wetaskiwin, in moving a resolution expressing gratitude and the chance and purposeless selection of the training boys and girls for professional life.

All modern self-governing people have undertaken the problem of education of the body of the people as well as the leaders in the duties of citizenship.

"In the past and up to the present we have been prone to assume that what is best for the few is also best for the many. We have brought about an abnormal and unhealthy condition, and caused so many mistakes in our professions."

"Rural education should be, 1st, for those who will continue in rural life; 2nd, for training for leaders in rural life as well; 3rd, for those who are not finding rural life congenial, desire to enter the professions, where provision should be made for bodily health. Wetaskiwin has the honor of being the first city to procure medical supervision for its pupils."

"The business of making a living is after all the most pressing business of life. All phrases combine to make life more worth living. Mathematics, science and art are inseparably bound up in the occupational side of life. Manual training represents this phase of life in the school life of the child, and refinement results from the control of the hand and of the eye. Control of tools and machines follow. The greater the control the child has, the greater the efficiency of our national life."

"Teachers graduated from the Calgary Normal School are qualified to teach manual training to Standards I and II."

An interesting discussion followed.

Referring to the trustees passing resolutions he said, "Why do you wait? We don't need to wait. Manual training was introduced into the territorial schools by some of the school boards ten years ago. We are too prone to resolve and wait for some one else to do something."

"Normal training is simply a sub-department of agriculture in the rural school and represents the occupational side of life."

"The educational problem has long been restricted to training for leadership and the chance and purposeless selection of the training boys and girls for professional life."

SIR WM. MACKENZIE VICTIM OF ROBBERY

Porter on Private Car of President of C.N.R. Gets Away With $1,000—
Caught at Windsor, Ont.—
Matter Was Hushed Up By Mr. Mackenzie.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—According to the Evening Citizen, Sir Wm. Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway, was made the victim of a daring robbery by a porter of his own private car during his recent visit to Ottawa. Sir William slept in the arrival of his car at the Central station, and did not awaken until nearly ten o'clock. He had an appointment at ten with the Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, and rose in a hurry to be at the minister's office on time.

Under his pillow, while he slept, Sir William had stowed a package of $4,000 in bills of large denominations. In his haste in getting up, he did not take time to put the roll away in a secure place, merely wrapping it up in his night shirt and tucking it on the bed in his stateroom, trusting to the employees on the car to guard it safely for him. When the porter came to make up the room he found the roll unexpectedly and overcame by a sudden temptation took the whole of it and made preparations to get away.

Remorse seems to have seized him partially, however, for after stripping off only the outside bills, two of $500 each, the man took the rest from the bed before the loss was discovered, leaving the rest of the roll scattered on the car floor. The robbery was kept quiet here, Sir William employing his own men to run down the fugitive who was caught at the border at Windsor, Ontario, with the two hundred dollar note in his possession. The man made a full confession, according to the report received here, and the matter was hushed for the time being, Sir William merely dismissing the man and not instituting any action.

WETAKEWIN.

Bulletin News Service.

At a sitting of the District Court at Wetakewin, before His Honor Judge Lees today the case of Henry v. MacDonald was tried. This case arose out of a real estate deal. Henry is a real estate agent at Ponoka and had an exclusive listing for a piece of farm property near Ponoka at $22,000 net to MacDonald. Henry offered the property to Phelps for $12,500. After Phelps had seen the land he expressed satisfaction with it, but suddenly broke off negotiations with Henry and bought the land for $2,000 through another agent. Henry then sued MacDonald for $19,000, the difference between the $22,000 and the $2,000. The verdict was in favor of Henry, the real estate agent for $19,000 with costs on the small debt claim.

This decision is an important one for real estate agents.

Dane Found Machine Afire in Mid-Air—Machine Destroyed.

Copenhagen, Jan. 26.—Svendens, the Danish aviator, while flying in a Voisin aeroplane, discovered while at a great height, that his machine was on fire yesterday. The first intimation he had of the fact was when the spectators shouted to him.

At the instant he paid no attention to the cries which reached him from the ground, but at last he realized that something was wrong and looked around, saw flames bursting from the framework of his aeroplane. Descending as quickly as possible, he reached the earth just in time to avoid serious injury. The machine was destroyed.

SCOTT.

Bulletin News Service.

The Town Hall at Scott is now nearing completion and will be one of the finest in the west, outside the big cities. It is two stories, with full size basement, and is built of brick. The basement contains the steam heating plant and storage rooms. On the ground floor are rooms for the Town and Mounted Police, three cells, fire hall, secretary's office, and council chamber. The upper floor is wholly given over to public hall purposes. The floor of the latter is polished maple, making one of the finest dance halls in the Province. The equipment consists of opera chairs and a full outfit of scenery. The hall cost over $10,000 to build and equip.

A debenture issue of $4,000 has been approved for the construction of a municipal hospital. A neat and commodious building is proposed for the benefit of the suffering in this district.

Mayor Street has just returned from Regina where he went as the representative of the town on business connected with the by-laws. His mission was eminently successful.

Creable Smith of the Mounted Police leaves about the first of February for Regina to take examination for coroner's office.

A fire brigade is now being organized to take charge of the new equipment which consists of two chemical engines and a ladder truck.

Bashev, the new town on the G. T. P., is growing rapidly. It is one of the busiest towns on the new road.

There are three grocery stores and a hardware, and two restaurants. The hotel is not finished yet. It is said it will cost $12,000 when finished.

Microm Wreck Inquest.

North Portal, Sask. Jan. 26.—The verdict of the coroner's jury in connection with the Microm wreck based on the statements of the train crew and passengers given today was that the accident was caused by the orders of the dispatcher at Moon Jaw, allowing the snow plow train to so closely follow the passenger train. The engineer of the snow plow train was also blamed for not taking more precautions in approaching the Microm railway yards.
